“What is a friend?”

Do you know the answer to this question? Can you describe the qualities of a good friend? In this episode, Forky talks about friendship and the characteristics of a friend.

This is Forky’s definition of friendship:

“Someone you can just sit with and say absolutely nothing and still have the best time.”

Below are some of the points Forky mentions to describe a good friend:

- 1) A good friend reminds you to smile.
- 2) A good friend is kind to you.

Besides, Forky reminds us that we should appreciate our friends.

Let’s take a look at this list and see what we learned from Forky today:

- 1) carry someone/something around = to physically carry someone or something to many places

“Bonnie’s mom always carries him around when she’s on the phone.”

- 2) say something over and over = to repeat something constantly and repeatedly

“She says over and over...”

3) take your time = do something as slowly as you like; do not hurry

“Take your time, no rush.”

4) tickle fight = a long but fun fight with someone, in which no violence is present.

“You know what friends really like? Tickle fights!”

5) cut it out = stop; used to ask someone to stop doing or saying something annoying or offensive

6) knucklehead = a stupid person

7) inanimate = without life or spirit; not alive

“You know that’s just an inanimate ceramic mug, don’t you?”

8) spork (spoon + fork) = an eating tool that combines the bowl of a spoon with the tines of a fork

For example, Forky is a type of spork.

9) I can’t thank you enough = said when one is very appreciative of another’s words or actions

Piece of cake, huh? Now that you know their meaning, try to pronounce them as Forky and Hamm do.
